Warriors Look for Third Win Over 'Diego Knights

Working on a two-game winning streak, Coach Norm Verry's Warrior gridgers are set for a costal tour Saturday when they meet the San Diego Knights in Bordertown.

San Diego's unimpressive 3-5 record isn't any assurance of easy times for El Camino. Proof of this is, the fact that the Knights have lost only the five games by the combined total of 25 points.

This will be the final game of the season and an important one for both teams as far as positions in Metro standings is concerned.

El Camino sports a 3-3 record in Metro action, in comparison with San Diego's 2-4. A win by the Knights would throw San Diego and El Camino into a tie for fourth place in the conference. A win by the Warriors would clinch that position for El Camino.

San Diego has won the past three games so the task at hand is no small one. El Camino, on the way to a 7-3 season in 1956, blasted the Knights 32-6 for the Blue and Gray's last victory over the Bay City crew.

San Diego's big gun is elusive halfback, Ed Buchanan, a breakaway threat from anywhere on the field. In last year's game, Buchanan scored four touchdowns, including a 90-yard kickoff return which aided the Knights in ruining El Camino's homecoming 36-34.

The 1960 edition of homecoming was climaxed at Warrioville Saturday, with the playing of a rain-drenched football game between El Camino and visiting East Los Angeles.

El Camino's great passer Rom Veres put on another aerial spectacular in leading the Warriors to an 18-12 victory, the College's first homecoming win in four years.

Playing in heavy showers on a slow field, the 6'0", 185 pound sophomore completed

16 of 29 passes for 290 yards and two TDs.

With the San Diego game still remaining, Veres has compiled this outstanding record in eight games. He has thrown 196 passes completing 115 for a 59 percent completion average. His total yards passing record stands at a smooth 1609 yards, or better than 200 per game and 14 yards completion. Fourteen of his tosses have gone for TDs.
